RE: Paradigm Consultants, Inc.

To Whom It May Concern:

Paradigm Consultants have been providing geotechnical engineering and construction material testing services for our clients since 1997. Those clients include Blinn College in Brenham, San Bernard Electric Cooperative in Bellville, State Bank in Tomball, and currently Cy-Fair Federal Credit Union in Houston.

Although I attempt to be impartial when suggesting geotechnical and testing firms, I underscore to my client the high level of personal service that Paradigm has always provided. Most impressive is the depth of expertise available to the client. Whether the issue involves concrete, soils or metal, you can depend on Paradigm to represent the owner's best interest when discussing these options. Let me also point out that their expertise stands against the bubba argument any contractor will offer.

My only regret is that Paradigm does not have a presence in rural Texas where most of our projects are located. However, I can assure you that as the owner, you want to be represented by this quality oriented firm.

If you have any questions, I would enjoy speaking with you.

Sincerely,
