Houston, Texas – Gregory Hartwig, Vice President of Paradigm Consultants has been honored with the "Dalton E. Hamilton Memorial Certified Welding Inspector of The Year District" award. The award is given annually by the District 18 of the American Welding Society (AWS) for outstanding achievement in the science, technology and application of welding.

Hartwig has more than 20 years experience in the welding and structural steel arenas and is an AWS Certified Welding Inspector. He currently serves as Paradigm's Construction Services Manager. In this capacity he works closely with architects, engineers, contractors, inspectors and other construction professionals during fabrication and erection of structural steel to determine code and specification compliance.

Paradigm Consultants has a team of Certified Welding Inspectors to serve your project requirements. Paradigm Consultants, Inc. is a Houston-based firm providing our public and private clients with professional geotechnical engineering, construction materials testing services and environmental engineering services. Paradigm's laboratories are A2LA accredited facilities. In 2005 the firm was named the Port of Houston Authority's Small Business of the Year and celebrated their 10th anniversary in June.
